

Recommendation

I am more than happy to recommend WebsiteStyle as your potential website subcontractor. For us, WebsiteStyle turned out to be a reliable partner which you can trust and rely on. Their team full of specialist from many sectors can adapt to unique project requirements and do their job quickly, well and according to agreements.

The task we let to WebsiteStyle was unusual, as the time schedule was very tight. Many competitors refused to take hands on it, but WebsiteStyle felt the challenge and accepted it. Everything during the process was done according to the previously established schedule and the project was delivered on time. During the process, they turned out to be very flexible and understanding and presented their availability to meet all project assumptions and suggest possible improvements to make it even better.

For WebsiteStyle, the given word is binding. Even though some of initial requirements were only discussed through email or conversations and were not involved in final version of contract, they kept their word and made everything as initially agreed.

Based on the above, I highly recommend choosing WebsiteStyle as your potential future partner.
